By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP)—Police today had one clue—a woman's handwriting—in the kidnaping of an ailing, 23-day-old child from a West Side apartment Thursday. It was the city's second baby abduction this year.

A specimen of the kidnaper's handwriting was obtained in the form of a note written at the mother's request before the latter left on a wild-goose hunt for a nonexistent "Bronx apartment."

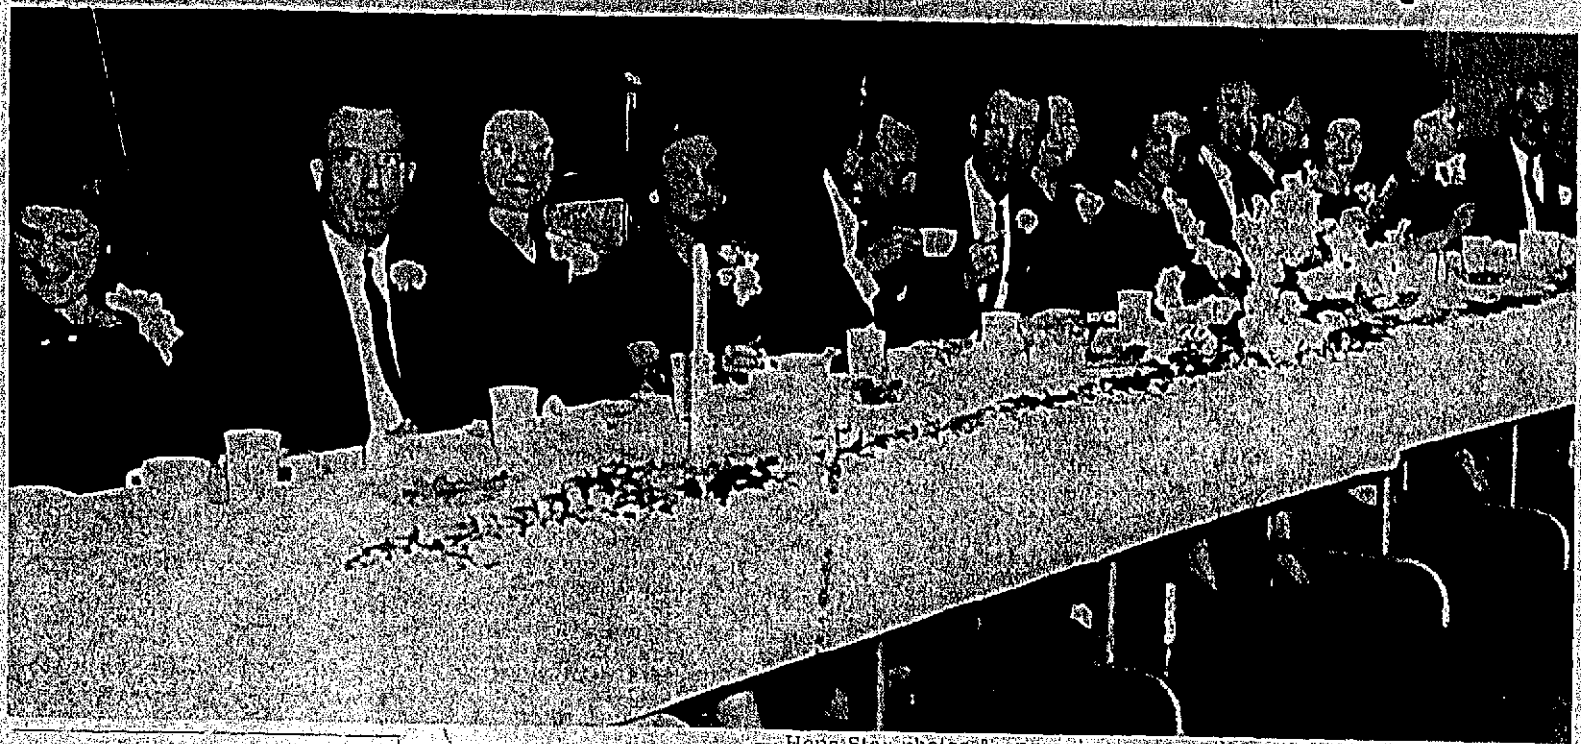

In the note, the woman kidnaper, said to be pregnant, wrote what she represented to be her name, address, and telephone number. Police assumed the name was fictitious after finding that the Bronx address was a fake. The phone number turned out to be an unlisted one and that of persons not possibly involved in the case, police said.

In view of reports that the kidnaper is an expectant mother, the handwritten note was to be used in a canvas of hospital records and medical offices.

Police and the FBI had teamed up in an all-night search of the area around the Manhattan apartment from where John Tavaroz disappeared. The woman, his mother had met just two days ago. The grief-stricken father, broadcast.

Alford Says Washington Is Pleasant

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) back in Arkansas to take care of some personal business, says his brief tenure at Washington "has been pleasant."

Alford arrived here last night for a two-day visit. His family remained at Washington. The new congressman, who ousted Brooks Hays from the state's Fifth Congressional District seat in the November general election, said he also planned to "talk to the local people."

Alford met at Washington yesterday morning with a delegation of Hot Springs residents about possible conversion of Army-Navy Hospital in that city to an institution for treatment of arthritis. The hospital is in Rep. W. R. Norrell's district. But Alford said he and Norrell were in accord on the plan.

A proposal also has been made to convert the hospital—which the Army is trying to close as an economy measure—into a vocational rehabilitation center. "Alford is interested in the idea of an arthritis center because of his medical background. He is an eye specialist."

The congressman said House Speaker Sam Rayburn and the Arkansas congressional delegation had been "most kind and helpful." "We've met with pleasant relations, frankly, with everyone," he said.

Alford expressed the view that Southern desires for segregation.

Speedy Action on Bills for Segregation

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The way was paved today for speedy action in the Arkansas Legislature on a new set of anti-segregation bills proposed by Gov. Orval Faubus.

The bills were introduced in both the House and Senate yesterday and can be called up for final action any time.

The identical proposals set up a plan for paying school funds directly to students, rather than to the districts in which they are enrolled, and call for the submission of an amendment at the 1960 general election incorporating the direct aid plan into the state's Constitution.

The Senate also received another Faubus-backed proposal which would permit teachers to retain membership in the Arkansas Teachers Retirement System even though they transfer to, and teach in, private schools.

Sponsors of the twin proposals were Sens. Charles F. Smith of West Memphis, Jerry Scretton of Hazen, J. Lee Bearden of Leitchville, Clarence E. Ball of Parkin and Tom Allen of Brinkley; and Reps. C. C. Hollensworth of Carleton.

Shoe-Fitting X-Ray Machines Studied

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The use of X-ray machines to fit shoes may encourage an investigation by the state health department.

Dr. J. H. Herron, state health officer, told the state Board of Health yesterday that X-ray machines used by shoe stores could be harmful, and the department may investigate.

Herron said the machines are used in 23 stores in the state to enable customers to see through the shoes to the bones in their feet. He didn't list the cities where the stores are located.

"Some stores are using the machines rather promiscuously," he said.

In other action, the board named new officers for the year. They are Dr. Warren S. Riley of El Dorado, president, and Dr. J. Arnold Henry of Russellville, vice president.

McClinton Has No Plan for Compromise

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Negro political figure emphasized today that he has no plan for opening Little Rock public schools closed in the integration dispute.

T. S. McClinton, president of the Arkansas Democratic Voters Assn. (NDP), suggested yesterday that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and the Little Rock School Board work out a compromise aimed at getting the schools open.

McClinton said today that apparently some misunderstanding about his statement had arisen. "I am not suggesting any plan of operations, but only that attorneys for the school board work out a plan together, if the school board is sincere in its effort to try to open the closed high schools," he told newsmen.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas branch of the NAACP, commented on McClinton's proposal yesterday by saying he spoke "as a private citizen" and his views did not represent the NAACP.

Massive Cold, Floods Leave Dead, Homeless

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold, winds and chunks of ice swept downstream today, carrying threats of fresh havoc to flood zones in the northeastern quarter of the nation.

Thousands of persons were homeless. Losses mounted into many millions.

The death toll rose to 91.

Illinois counted 13, Wisconsin 13, Ohio 13, Iowa 8, Indiana 6, Texas 6, Michigan 6, Kansas 5, Kentucky 5, New York 5, New Mexico 3, Pennsylvania 3, Missouri 2, New Jersey 1, Oklahoma 2.

While fair weather followed the week of series of snow, ice, wind and rain storms, danger was concentrated in the flood zone that extended from Indiana eastward to New York State.

Section of a levee and sandbags gave way today in Chillicothe, Ohio. Waters of the swollen Scioto River seeped through. About a third of the city was under water. The homes of an estimated 10,000 of Chillicothe's 27,000 residents were affected. Mayor Nicholas H. Holmes declared a state of emergency.

The Ohio River crest moved downstream from Pennsylvania and cities in the valley braced for a watery invasion.

East Liverpool, Ohio, reported the river was eight feet above theoretical flood stage there but damage was minor.

Many huge freight barges were ripped from their moorings and were borne down the ice-choked Ohio. Some sank. Some rammed into bridge pillars. One snapped a guy wire of the suspension bridge at Wheeling, W. Va. Spectators said it sounded like the twanging of a giant guitar.

A colony of river shacks under the Newell, W. Va., bridge was washed away.

Rescue workers strove to stem the flow of the swollen Susquehanna River into a mine in Pittston, Pa. Twelve miners still were missing, at least three of them believed drowned when the river gushed into the mine chambers below the river bed Thursday.

Thirty-three miners escaped.

An ice jam two miles long blocked French Creek and record high waters backed up into Meadville, Pa. Officials reported 1,500 persons were routed from their homes there. A call went out for helicopters to speed evacuation.

"The only thing comparable is a flood we had way back in 1913," reported Fred Carman, Meadville's fire chief.

An overflow from the Shenango River kept the heart of Sharon, Pa., submerged.

Plant Workers Favor a Union

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Employees of Style-Rite Robes, Inc., a clothing-manufacturing plant, voted 40-20 today for union representation.

Bill Becker of Little Rock, organizational director for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (AFL-CIO), said 40 employees were eligible to vote.

The company has about 60 workers on the payroll.

Becker said the next step would be certification of the vote by the National Labor Relations Board.

Then the union will enter into meeting of workers and a negotiating committee will be named to start work on a contract.

12 Miners Are Trapped by Flood Waters

By FRED B. WALTERS.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—The fate of 12 missing coal miners, trapped when the Susquehanna River, clogged with ice, gouged a hole in their mine, remained unknown today as rescuers fought to stem the water.

First reports said three men drowned when the anthracite wall of the colliery, shored by timbers, collapsed Thursday under the tremendous pressure of the flooding river. No bodies have been found.

The trapped men can be listed only as missing.

Thirty-three other miners escaped, some gliding for hours through waist-deep freezing water before emerging from the underground maze of tunnels.

They were part of the 45-man crew working in the river slope mine of the Knox Coal Co. at near Port Griffith, when the breakthrough occurred without warning.

"We never heard the water come in at all," one escaped miner said. "It was just there."

Water gushed into the mine through a 75-foot hole that started under Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks which parallel the river. At this point the mines ceiling is only 30 feet from the river bed.

The mine crisscrosses in a complex pattern of tunnels that goes under the river as deep as 1,000 feet.

Efforts to dam the water, after a 24-hour battle, have availed little. But mine officials are hopeful of stuffing the hole.

So far workers have fed 30 rail-rod coal gondolas into the pit, plus many hundreds of bales of hay and wood shavings. But the river has gulped it all—and keeps on rolling.

Pouring into the mine with the water, swollen by heavy rains early in the week, were great quantities of ice.

Van Dalsem Fights Off Vote of Confidence

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A majority of voting House members today supported a resolution asking Highway Director Herbert Eldridge to reconsider his resignation. But the resolution failed because it lacked a necessary 51 votes.

The vote was 45 for asking Eldridge to stay on and 37 against it. But resolutions require a majority of the total membership—not just those voting.

Eighteen of the 100 House members were either absent or abstained from voting.

Earlier the House had voted a motion to send the resolution to the Resolutions Committee, headed by Rep. Paul Van Dalsem, one of Eldridge's chief critics.

But those supporting Eldridge lacked six votes of giving the harrassed highway director a vote of confidence.

It is possible that another try may be made later since the pro-Eldridge forces showed such surprising strength.

Eldridge resigned earlier this month, effective March 1. He had been under fire from some legislators. Gov. Orval Faubus, while professing "hands-off" policy, often has demonstrated that he is not an admirer of Eldridge.

The former Texas was accused of a coldness to lawmakers who called at his office to discuss highway business. He was the first director under the Mack-Blackwell constitutional amendment which was designed to remove the Highway Department from political interference.

Governor Faubus, through a death and his election to three terms as chief executive, has appointed 4 out of 5 members of the Highway Commission.

Pulaski Rep. J. H. Cottrill Jr. introduced the resolution, which would have been tantamount to expressing confidence and support for Eldridge's policies.

He gathered support among many new legislators and some veterans.

Van Dalsem acted as floor leader for the opposition, which based its arguments on the premise that Eldridge had resigned voluntarily and that such a resolution would in effect be political pressure on the Highway Commission to retain him.

Cottrill and his supporters claimed that the resolution would be a reaffirmation of faith in the Mack-Blackwell amendment.

"If you want to seek the sentiment of the people, vote for this resolution," said Grant Rep. Jack Gwin.

"This is not political pressure on the Highway Commission," said Arkansas Rep. Grover C. Carnes. "It is merely an invitation to Eldridge to return."

Little River Rep. Marjorie Crank called the resolution "untimely and out of place. It makes us look ridiculous."

"Eldridge has quit. He wants to go back to Texas. Why can't Arkansas pick its own men for highway director," commented Green Rep. Tony McDonald.

Van Dalsem, closing for the opposition, said the resolution would be a bit of interest which has resulted in better attendance.

All have been closely identified with the Faubus Administration.

The direct-pay proposal provides that school funds shall be paid to any students prohibited from attending school for reasons beyond his or her control.

Proposed constitutional amendment stipulates that such a student aid plan shall be installed in a school district only after a vote of the people in that district. The method of payment could be changed only by a subsequent election.

The teacher retirement proposal requires that it remain eligible for benefits. Teachers leaving the public school system must work for a non-profit private school which has been accredited by the state.

The press came in for its share of attention as the House and Senate put in their busiest days of the session. The House approved, without dissent, a resolution against barring reporters from the floor.

And the Senate, backing up a motion adopted Monday, took the name of the Arkansas Democrat off one of the desks in its press section and substituted the name of the Democrat's Senate reporter, George Douthett.

The motion had been approved after Senator Sereton delivered a fiery address criticizing an article by Democrat columnist Marvin Baldwin (speaking fun at the General Assembly).

But the House, even as it emphasized that all newspapermen are welcome, refused to budge nine, 30, remained unaccounted for as darkness settled on the bleak plateau on top of which sits the little town of Port Griffith.

But shortly before 7 p.m., a rescue crew probing tunnels near the air shaft came upon 26 men wading through a nearby tunnel. The men were led back to the shaft and helped up the steep slope by the aid of ropes hauled by willing hands above.

Survivors of the mine flood escaped in two groups.

Seven men, some aided by 12 maps of the complicated miles of ancient coal tunnels, got out by climbing an air shaft several hundred yards upstream from the hole.

Twenty-six others wandered through the maze of tunnels in waist-deep water for seven hours before a rescue team found and brought them to safety up the air shaft.

A little diesel engine kept pushing coal cars into the whirlpool of water and ice. A pump station marks the seemingly bottomless hole. But the cars, and the tons of bailed hay also used to plug the breach, vanished in the swirling waters.

The tracks of the Delmar Valley Railroad parallel the river, and a cliff rises almost vertically behind the tracks.

Worried relatives and townspeople watched quietly from the edge of the cliff as the rescue workers hauled out the bodies.

Until it is said, Mine Supt. Robert Groves' rescue crews won't be able to begin pumping out the mine. The mine, he said, will have to be cleared before the search begins for the 12 missing men.

The water pouring into the mine also posed a serious threat to the economic life of the Wyoming Valley in northeast Pennsylvania.

After years of working, the anthracite vein under the valley is honeycombed with interconnecting tunnels. The Port Griffith accident forced nearby mines to close immediately as water swirled through the tunnels.

There were fears that mines down the valley might have to be closed, throwing hundreds of miners out of work.

Marriages Increase During November

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marriages increased during November but the number of births continued to decline, the Public Health Service estimated today.

The service figured there were 118,000 marriages during November, an increase of 0.8 per cent over the November 1957 total of 116,000.

There were an estimated 341,000 births during November, down 1.2 per cent from the 345,000 for the 1957 months.

This was a proposal by Rep. Tony F. McDonald of Greene County that all gubernatorial appointments be subject to confirmation by the Senate. Van Dalsem said that all important appointments already are subject to Senate confirmation.

Rep. Paul Van Dalsem of Perry County called the votes to debate the Digest proposal and a short time later marshalled the forces to turn back another bill which he described as a slap at the governor.

Vanced by the school board "that would cause a delay in integration would not be acceptable to the Negro people and I am confident that the attorneys for the Negro students would not agree to any delaying plan."

The school board has asked U.S. District Court here to permit the reopening of the four closed schools including all Negro boys and girls on a temporary segregated basis while the board works on a plan of operation that would be acceptable to all factions.

This plan would be submitted by Aug. 15, the board told the court. Federal Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith yesterday set a Feb. 3 hearing on the board's request.

Big Star Is Always Willing to Learn

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At 51 and at the top of his profession, Sir Laurence Olivier is still willing to learn.

He has won every conceivable honor on the stage and screen now he's dipping into television.

"You can't deny it," he comments, "if you want to stay in the acting profession, you have to change with the times."

Before leaving England, he did Ibsen's "John Gabriel Borkman" for TV. In New York, he went into the grind of turning out a 30-minute version of Maugham's "The Moon and Sixpence" on color tape.

The first act required 15 hours of steady work, the second 17 hours. When he finished the third act, he had been awake for 24 hours. Then he stepped on a plane and arrived here to begin work for "Spartacus" feeling like a zombie.

"Television is fascinating," he observed. "But it really isn't an actor's medium. You get two or three weeks rehearsal, the equivalent of playing stock in the provinces. You don't have the time to perfect, as you do in the theater."

Last season on Broadway, many eyebrows were raised when Olivier appeared in a play called "The Entertainer." It was a bitter story about a small-time music hall performer written by John Osborne, one of England's so-called angry young men.

Why did he do "The Entertainer"? "Because I thought it was a good play—not a great one, but an interesting play. I think the angry young men have contributed some real vigor to English writing."

He may do it as a movie—if a way can be found to overcome the public's resistance. But first he'll play at Stratford-on-Avon this summer. Even if he can't do Shakespeare on film again, he'll remain true to the bard on the stage.

Unions Spurn Plea to Hold Down Wages

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders, spurning President Eisenhower's renewed plea to curb wage increases, meet today to chart a new drive for pay boosts.

Al G. Hayes, president of the Machinists Union, said in advance of a meeting of the AFL-CIO Economic Policy Committee he does not agree with the President's wage-price policies.

Saying prices and overly high profits are to blame for inflation, Hayes added that "I don't agree with the implication that decent wage rates are responsible."

"It is misleading to the American people," Hayes is a member of the AFL-CIO policy group headed by United Auto Workers' chief Walter Reuther. Its position has been that wages are too low in relation to costs and profits.

The President's annual economic message to Congress Tuesday said most indicators are pointing upward but renewed inflation could retard recovery prospects.

Eisenhower urged business to keep down prices and labor to confine wage increases to improved output.

Floods Bring Call for Nat'l Guard

MOUNT VERNON Ohio (AP)—A state of emergency was declared and a request for Ohio National Guard troops made by Mount Vernon's Mayor Philip Mauger today as rain-swollen streams in the area practically isolated the city.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A splintered proposal that the law require only one subject to be taught in Arkansas high schools—American history—was introduced in the Arkansas Senate today.

The bill provides that no student shall be graduated from a private or public high school without completing one year of American history.

The measure, introduced by Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parlin and Sen. Charles Smith of West Memphis, specifies that the bill shall not be interpreted as an intended infringement on the State Board of Education's authority for designating courses.

Bell said more flexibility is needed in the state school curriculum to meet changing conditions. He said the splintered age demands more devotion by students to math and science.

"Due to courses required by law, it is difficult for students to schedule some of the math and science they need," Bell said in a statement.

Another bill introduced at the morning session would strengthen authority of the Arkansas Training School for Girls' Board of Managers to grant release or parole to any inmate.

Mrs. Marjorie Crumbaugh of Russellville, secretary of the Board of Managers, said the bill is designed to relieve pressure on the board members. The pressure, she said, comes from parents of inmates through county officials for release or parole of a girl before her rehabilitation is completed.

The Senate passed a bill to require judges to resign before seeking non-judicial offices. The bill, by Sen. John Eldridge of Augusta, passed by a 29-1 vote. Sen. Guy Jones of Conway cast the negative vote.

area went out of their banks. The Kolkosing River was causing the most trouble.

Rain, which totaled more than 11 inches in some portions of Ohio, closed many Ohio highways and Ohio schools and flooded low-land areas.

Knox County and adjoining counties seemed to be the worst hit, immediately by the heavy rains and melting snow. All schools were closed and children in some areas had to be carried across flooded yards.

Alfalfa of Our Gang Comedies Is Killed

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (AP)—Actor Carl (Alfalfa) Switzer, 33—a freckle-faced, wide-eyed movie star as a boy—was shot to death Wednesday night. Police said the argument with another man over money.

Switzer was a favorite of moviegoers a generation ago when he appeared in "Our Gang" and "Regular Fellers" comedies. He became known again with reissue of the films to television under the title "The Little Rascals."

But in recent years his movie parts had been minor, and he worked as a bartender and hunting guide when not acting. He realized nothing from reissue of the old films.

Police said Switzer had gone to the home of a friend, M.S. Stiltz, 38, Wednesday night in an effort to collect a $50 loan.

Detectives Louis Bell and Ernest Johnson said Stiltz told them that an argument had developed and Switzer hit him on the head with a clock. Stiltz got a gun and fired harmlessly while they struggled, Stiltz said Switzer drew a knife and Stiltz shot him in the abdomen the latter said.

Some of Switzer's pictures included "To Many Parents," "Wild and Woolly," and "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

News Briefs

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas hunters can take to the woods between April 13-19 this year in search of their bag limit of one wild turkey.

The state Game and Fish Commission announced the dates yesterday and said the hunting areas will be designated later.

A bow and arrow season also will be set, the commission said.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—John Barnhill, University of Arkansas athletic director, was presented the Little Rock Scrimmage Clubs Service to Marking award at a testimonial dinner last night.

The award is presented annually to an Arkansas whose name is then submitted for the national award.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—More than 250 clergymen and laymen were expected here today for the opening session of the Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas' 87th annual convention.

The first session was scheduled at 10 a.m. when the Rt. Rev. Robert R. Brown of Little Rock, bishop of Arkansas, was to outline future plans for the church in Arkansas.

A special service will be held tomorrow for dedication of the United Thanks Offering Alms Basin, a 22-inch silver basin encrusted with gold which is to be kept in Little Rock.

Lay officers will be elected for the coming year.

The women's auxiliary will meet in conjunction with the convention, which ends tomorrow.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Ben White and Sons of Blytheville was apparent low bidder yesterday on a contract for construction of a readiness crew building at the Blytheville Air Force Base.

The firm's bid on building the two-story masonry building was $439,477.

Swede Fighter Due to Sign Title Match

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Sweden's Ingemar Johansson was due here from Sweden Friday to wrap up negotiations for a title fight with World Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson.

The handsome, undefeated European titleholder was confident on two counts—he will get the contract and then the crown in the June fight.

"I'm sure I will win otherwise I would never sign my name on the paper," he said, "if you don't believe in yourself, you cannot be a boxer."

He commented on boarding a U.S.-bound plane at Göteborg, Sweden, Promoter Bill Rosenzweig shared Johansson's optimism that the fight will be made — for New York, Los Angeles, or Colorado Springs—despite some puzzling statements by Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato.

It was learned from a good source that the fight is all set. This was told disclosed after D'Amato had said he still was negotiating with other contenders.

Apparently the supercautious manager was concerned that Johansson's demands would be more than he'd want to meet.

650 to Get US Degrees Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Approximately 650 graduating students will receive degrees at University of Arkansas mid-year commencement Saturday.

George W. Bailey, minister of the College Church of Christ at Abilene, Tex., will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at John Barnhill Field House.

University President John T. Caldwell will present degrees to the graduates.

Honorary degrees will be conferred upon Fred I. Brown of Little Rock, president of the Arkansas Foundry Co.; Edgar Wertheim of Fayetteville, emeritus professor and former head of the University's chemistry department; and Russell I. Thackrey, journalist-educator and executive secretary of the American Assn. of Land-grant Colleges and State Universities.

Hollensworth Much Improved

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Rep. Carroll Hollensworth of Bradley County was improved today but still in serious condition after a heart attack, his physician said.

Hollensworth, 59, suffered the attack at his hotel room yesterday. He was hospitalized and placed under an oxygen tent.

The physician said Hollensworth spent a comfortable night.

Hollensworth, a veteran legislator, was speaker of the House in 1953. He is chairman of the House Rules Committee.

Pa. under water for the second successive day. The water was three feet deep in parts of a 10-block area in the business district.

Wheeling Island and the Wheeling Downs race track in West Virginia were partly under water.

Ice jams kept some rivers in New York State near flood stage in the wake of a fresh blizzard wind that blew more than 90 m.p.h. that toppled trees and power lines.

Large chunks of ice crashed against homes and western and south-central New York, causing extensive damage.

Ice jams in the Hosiery River at Bunkirk, N.Y., threatened to destroy the last covered bridge in Rensselaer County. The wooden span, built in the early 1800s, was damaged.

At East Branch, N.Y., the Delaware River spread to 500 yards, five times normal width.

Hundreds of homes in New York State were without power.

Piercing cold covered most of the nation east of the Rockies, reaching from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico and northern Florida.

The fresh outbreak of cold weather was not expected to moderate much during the day, except in Southern areas.

The widespread variety of intense storms which have pounded the Eastern two thirds of the country this week ended Thursday as the front, with the cold dry air clashing with warm moist air, moved across the coast and out into the Atlantic.

That left the rest of the country east of the Rockies covered by a wintry cold air mass, with only light precipitation. This was mostly snow flurries in the Great Lakes region and light scattered showers in eastern Florida.

Nearly normal winter weather prevailed west of the Rockies.

Another Infant

cast a radio and TV appeal for the baby's return.

Authorities described the woman being sought as 5-foot-2, weighing about 160 pounds, having brown hair with blonde streaks, and "obviously pregnant." They said she was wearing a dark blue coat and black shoes, and probably was wearing a "slave bracelet" chain on her left leg.

Two other Texas children, Josephine, 5, and Doris, 3, also left in the care of the missing woman, were found in the apartment of a neighbor.

The distraught mother, Mrs. Doralita Tavares, 31, said she had met the woman Wednesday at Metropolitan Hospital, where she brought the little boy for treatment of a cold. The mother said the woman had given her name as Mrs. Gladys Garcia and told her she was receiving prenatal care at the hospital.

Mrs. Tavares said she was changing John's diaper when the woman came over and helped her. It was raining, and the woman gave Mrs. Tavares and her baby a ride back home in a taxi cab.

Mrs. Tavares said she and Mrs. Garcia had discussed the difficulties of raising a family in cramped quarters. She quoted Mrs. Garcia as saying she might be able to help find a better apartment. The Tavares occupy a 1½-room flat.

Pulitzer Prize Winner Succumbs

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Tanner Edwin Stringfield, Pulitzer composer and musical Pulitzer Prize winner, died here Wednesday night. He was 51.

He entered a hospital with a severe cold several days ago. He died of lung congestion.

"From the Southern Mountains" was the composition which won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1928.

Stringfield, born near Raleigh, N.C., went to New York to study and played with the Russian Symphony, the New York Philharmonic, and the New York Chamber Music Society. He later formed his own trio.

Stringfield remained in New York until 1930 when he joined the University of North Carolina staff. He organized the North Carolina Symphony Society in 1932 and served as its director. In 1937 he returned to New York as associate conductor at the Radio City Music Hall, a post he held until 1939.

Before returning to North Carolina, he taught at Julliard and at Claremont, Calif.

Peaceful Submerged A-Blast Is Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States might touch off a peaceful use underground atomic explosion next year, even if it still isn't making atomic weapons tests.

Chairman John McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission told a news conference Wednesday that a country could be ready for such a test explosion by late summer but would delay it at least until next year.

He said this country is under no injunction to foreign underground blasts to see how feasible they would be for such things as paralyzing oil harbors and tapping new sources of oil.

McCone indicated this would be true although the United States has said it will not conduct weapons tests for a year from last October if the Soviet Union did not test during the same period.

The Yerger Shover PTA program committee is to be congratulated for the splendid programs they have presented. We know much time and effort has been given to the planning.

On Monday, Jan. 19, Dr. George Wright, discussed Childhood Diseases, emphasizing the importance of knowing the symptoms, watching the incubation periods, and inoculation as preventive measures. He also stressed the importance of children eating hot lunches.

Dr. Wright spoke briefly on "Mental Health." He mentioned that most mental cases could be greatly helped by kindness, patience and desirable living conditions.

Ray Hughes showed an interesting film on "Polio and other Crippling Diseases."

Approximately 80 people attended the meeting.

Brando Has Cold, Black Eye, Cut Head

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
MARLON BRANDO, after six weeks of directing his first movie, is suffering from a cold, a black eye, a gash on his forehead and exhaustion. But he continues to work an 18-hour day.

The moody star sagged in his dressing room, approving the still photos of himself. He was interrupted by a tailor who chucked alterations into four sets of identical trousers as fast as Brando could change into them.

Marlon then stashed a coughing fit by gulping several tablespoonfuls of honey.

"I knew this was going to be a rugged job when I started," he said wearily. "And so help me, I'll never act and direct at the same time again."

Directs Own Scenes
"I work from 6 a.m. till after midnight most days, rewriting scenes, fixing camera shots and tending to a thousand details. An actor can do his job, leave the studio and forget about a picture until the next day."

"In addition to the long hours a director has to bear the decisions and responsibilities of the company. I never realized how truly collaborative an effort movies really are."

Through the years I've more or less directed myself anyhow, so directing my own scenes doesn't pose a problem.

Finda Some Conflict
"But I do find some conflict in being both director and star. There's a tendency to be self-indulgent. I think the experience will make me a better actor and I've certainly learned more about a director's problems."

In addition to directing and acting in "One-Eyed Jacks," Brando is part owner of the production company, Penebaker.

Brando seemingly is indifferent to his awesome stature in Hollywood — he will collect one million dollars, plus 10 per cent of the gross from his next picture, "Orpheus Descending." A hefty income for a 34-year-old actor.

"It's a precarious position to be in," he grinned. "You must meet the demands of previous achievements every time. That's not easy."

Does Marlon direct with an iron hand?

"No," he said. "You have to be patient with the actors, and you have to maintain an emotional rapport on the set. It's a tremendously valuable asset. I worked for marlinet just once, and I'll never let him direct me again. Some actors need discipline to do their best, but I'm not one of them."

RECEIVES HARD JAR
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Doris Nichols swears this is how she got a black eye.

She stepped out of a car carrying a purse, briefcase and pair of hand cream. She spied a friend and waved. The jar of hand cream flew out of her hand and hit her in the right eye.
